

ALL IN

The imaginary world of a hidden genius collides with reality as her family grapples with sudden death and unplanned posthumous calls to live and love to the fullest.

A WONDER-FILLED FAMILY ADVENTURE

In the wake of their parents' death, the Keating children journey with their awkward and eccentric aunt Eva through a storm of grief to discover the healing power of faith and family.

Their journey grows to epic proportions as Eva's complicated inner-life and powerful imaginings become visible, immersing audiences in her fantastical worlds with enchanting creatures, metronomic disasters, and larger than life perspectives. In a twist of fate, it is the Keating parents who guide their family to heal, speaking posthumously through vlog posts pre-scheduled for release by their father before the accident. Dad's challenge to be "all in" with life and family begs an answer for audiences of all ages.

Inspiration: The Secret Life of Walter Mitty meets Little Miss Sunshine

THE STRANGE JOURNEY TO HEALING

Jack and Emily are intentional and loving parents. Jack is known for his adventurous spirit and inspirational messages, challenging his children and others to live life to the fullest—to choose to be “all in.” Before they leave for their vacation, Jack and Emily record a series of videos for their children and pre-schedule the vlogs’ daily release. Their death at the outset of their trip means the messages of love and challenges to seize the day come at the same time the Keating family mourns their death.

With the untimely death of her brother, Eva becomes the Keating children’s reluctant guardian. Eva, who struggles with feeling like the black sheep of a large and very close extended family, often wrestles with big emotions and imaginings. Eva’s vivid imagination and a gift for storytelling takes the children on a road trip where they encounter enchanted forests, mystical creatures, and magical landscapes, all brought to life by Eva’s imaginative mind. Through her stories, Eva also reveals the painful childhood she shared with her brother Jack, answering many of the children’s questions along the way. These whimsical elements serve as a therapeutic escape for the children, helping them process their grief in a unique and engaging way.

FAMILY FOUNDATIONS: LIFE TO THE FULLEST

The road trip comes to an exciting and abrupt end at Astrid's long-anticipated play performance. The audience is overflowing with extended family and countless supporters who have been following Jack's now viral vlog posts and the Keating family's story. 9-Year-Old Astrid has convinced herself that her parents are not dead and will be in the audience to see her play. Astrid's fantasies come crashing down with the revelation that her parents are not in the audience. Even so, the moment becomes a miraculous event of collective healing and purpose.

The Keatings return home, transformed by their journey. Eva, having embraced her role, keeps Jack and Emily's memory alive through her genius storytelling ability. Maddy, Eric, and Astrid find a new sense of normalcy and hope, bolstered by the strength that comes from belonging.

While loss and grief are inevitable parts of life, they can become transformational when navigated with love, faith, family and the power of imagination. All In's blend of real-life challenges with fantastical adventures offers a unique and uplifting perspective on healing and the enduring power of family.

CHARACTER BREAKDOWN

EVA KEATING and her brother Jack lost their parents when they were very young and were placed into foster care. Misunderstood, Eva was given the diagnosis of a Personality Disorder (PD) and put on drugs. The drugs exacerbated her oddness. In the beginning, Eva told wild and wonderful stories to her brother, but over time, and as the hardships mounted, she stopped telling stories. When teenagers, they were adopted by Bob and Maria who are kind and loving in every way, but Eva could never bring herself to fully trust them. Eva and Jack remained close, but she only visited for the major holidays and never stayed long. Being around Jack's healthy family highlighted all she had lost. Eva struggles with thoughts that she will always be broken and odd. But the reality is, she's a genius. Eva's stories become a source of healing not just for the Keating children, but for herself as well, as they all discover the strength that can only be found in family.

VISUALIZATION

This film will be shot to amplify Eva's eccentricities and imagination. Eva's perspective will be considered in every scene as this is ultimately her story. While this is an intensely personal film with a fantastical flair, at no point will the viewer be taken out of the story. The special effects will flow seamlessly, nothing will look "animated," rather, everything will be as real as the characters

CHARACTER BREAKDOWN

MADDY KEATING is a strong and resilient teenager grappling with this devastating loss. She is guarded and feels responsible for her siblings, but her guarded exterior slowly softens as she encounters Aunt Eva's fantastical stories. Her journey is one of learning to embrace her vulnerability, and rediscovering the power of family. Maddy's resilience and newfound openness become a beacon of strength for her siblings.

ERIC KEATING is an introspective and determined boy who faces the pain of losing his parents with quiet strength. During the road trip, Eric's love for music and adventure becomes a source of solace as he learns to channel his grief into personal growth. His journey is one of self-discovery, courage and learning to lean on family to overcome life's obstacles so that he can be "all in," just like his dad.

ASTRID KEATING is a bright and imaginative young girl with a playful spirit. Her love for storytelling brings light to their darkest moments, but her family grows concerned because Astrid seems unable to grasp that her parents are not coming back. In the film's climax, the family comes together in a miraculous moment, as Astrid's unwavering hope and love create a powerful and uplifting resolution.
